

UNDERGRADUATE COMMENCEMENT

2026

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2026
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS BOSTON
CAMPUS CENTER LAWN

The University Mace

Symbols of authority and power, maces were originally hand weapons for use against armor. Traditionally carried in processions at formal academic events, they evoke the history and ideals of the institutions they represent. The staff of the University of Massachusetts Boston mace is fluted mahogany; its foot is brass. At its top, in a mahogany surround on a blue granite base, stands a bronze disk bearing the campus seal, consisting of a lighthouse radiating beams of light, with ocean waves below, with the statement "to preserve and extend knowledge." Reflecting the incorporation of Boston State College into the university in 1982, the bronze sides of the seal's base bear the names and dates of that college and its five predecessor institutions, the first of which was founded in 1852.

Academic Costume and Regalia

The academic regalia worn by faculty and students at this ceremony represent traditions that come down from the Middle Ages, when European universities were institutions of the church. At that time, robes were a common form of dress, particularly for officials of church and state. The cut of the robe, its adornment, and the colors used comprised a specialized heraldry that conveyed the rank and station of the wearer. At the universities, both faculty and students were considered to be part of the church hierarchy and were expected to wear the prescribed gowns. As society moved toward more modern forms of dress, only royalty, clergy, judges, and academics retained the traditional regalia, reserving it only for ceremonial use.

Modern academic regalia retain some of the symbols of the earlier forms of ceremonial dress. The gown tends to be fullest, longest, and heaviest for the doctoral degree. The sleeves for the bachelor's and master's gowns are typically open at the wrist. Cuffs are more common on the doctoral gown, and its sleeves are adorned by three velvet strips, symbolic of the degree. The mantle worn about the shoulders, called the hood, is the remnant of functional headgear worn for warmth in the unheated classrooms of medieval universities.

The usual color for academic gowns in the United States is black. However, many universities in this country and many others throughout the world have adopted more colorful robes. In general, this practice has been limited to schools more than one hundred years old. Among the schools represented by colorful robes at commencement ceremonies are Boston College, Boston University, Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Duke, Harvard, New York, Oxford, Princeton, Rutgers, Stanford, Tufts, and Yale Universities, and the Universities of California, Kansas, and Rhode Island.

Honorary Degrees

For centuries, universities have awarded honorary degrees as a way of recognizing extraordinary achievement and affirming institutional values. Our own university's policy is typical: the recipients of honorary degrees "shall be persons of great accomplishment and high ethical standards who exemplify the ideals of the University of Massachusetts"; recipients may not, however, hold federal or state elective office in Massachusetts.

Please Note:

This program is for ceremonial purposes. The official list of graduates is maintained by the university registrar.

Chancellor's Medal

Senator Edward J. Markey

Chancellor's Medal for Exemplary Leadership

Senator Edward J. Markey has a prolific legislative record on major issues across the policy spectrum. He is a consumer champion and national leader on energy, environmental protection, and telecommunications policy, as well as nuclear nonproliferation efforts. After serving for 37 years in the U.S. House of Representatives, Markey was elected to the U.S. Senate in 2013.

Markey is a leading consumer champion against rising gas prices and foreign oil. He authored the law establishing the Northeast Home Heating Oil Reserve and the 2007 law to increase fuel economy standards. He has also been a leading voice for policies that promote resilience and sustainability.

He has been instrumental in breaking up monopolies in electricity, telephone service, cable television, and international satellite services. His pro-competition policies have directly benefited job creation in Massachusetts and throughout the country. He is also the author of some of the most important Wall Street reform laws since the Great Depression, strengthening penalties against insider trading, improving federal oversight of stock and futures markets, and reforming regulation of the government securities market.

Markey was also the leader of the national Nuclear Freeze movement and has been a congressional champion on nuclear nonproliferation. His amendment to ban all underground nuclear testing passed in 1986, and in the 1990s, he fought to tighten controls on global trafficking in nuclear technology.

Over his long career, Markey has played key roles on many committees both in the House and the Senate. In the House of Representatives, Markey served as the ranking member of the Natural Resources Committee and was chairman of the Select Committee on Energy Independence and Global Warming. He also served on the Energy and Commerce Committee and as a senior member of the House Homeland Security Committee. In the Senate, he serves as a member of the Business and Entrepreneurship Committee (ranking member); the Commerce, Science, and Transportation Committee; the Environment and Public Works Committee; and the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee.

Markey holds a BA from Boston College and a JD from Boston College Law School. In honor of his decades of legislative work to achieve consumer and environmental protections, energy affordability, and global security, the University of Massachusetts Boston is pleased to recognize the outstanding accomplishments and dedication of Senator Edward J. Markey.

Honorary Degree Recipients

Ana Maria Hidalgo

Doctor of Humane Letters

The Honorable Ana Maria Hidalgo is the first woman ever to be elected mayor of Paris. Serving as mayor from 2014 until March 2026, she pursued an ambitious agenda focused on housing for families and inclusive public services. She also worked to make Paris a model for environmental action, reducing car use, greening public spaces, and prioritizing pedestrian access in the city.

Born in Spain, Hidalgo was raised in France. Her historic tenure as mayor of Paris established several benchmark environmental initiatives during her two terms in office. She added more than 620 miles of bike lanes in the city, planted more than 155,000 trees, and closed the major road alongside the Seine to motor vehicle traffic. She sought to provide more green spaces, cleaner air, and a more walkable city. She was a proponent of the “15-minute city” concept, in which work, schools, health care, and other everyday necessities could be just a 15-minute walk or bike ride away. Under Hidalgo’s leadership, Paris successfully lobbied to host the 2024 Olympic Games, which became a major catalyst for urban and environmental transformation in Paris.

Prior to her entry into Parisian politics, Hidalgo served in numerous local and national positions. Among them, she served as an advisor to three different ministers under France’s Jospin government (1997–2002) and was elected to the Île-de-France Regional Council (2004–2014), helping to legislate affairs in France’s most populous region. Then, in 2001, she became first deputy mayor of Paris, serving in that role until 2014 when she successfully ran for mayor.

She holds a master’s degree in social law from Jean Moulin University Lyon 3 and a master of advanced studies in social and trade unionism from Paris West University Nanterre La Défense. In recognition of her tireless efforts to improve the environment and urban living, the University of Massachusetts Boston is pleased to honor Ana Maria Hidalgo.

Charles John Hoff
Doctor of Humane Letters

Charles John Hoff is a successful entrepreneur and visionary philanthropist whose scholarships have changed lives throughout the University of Massachusetts system. Over the years, Hoff has transformed several businesses on the verge of financial ruin into successful enterprises. He credits his UMass education (UMass Lowell, class of 1966) with helping him achieve his success.

From a working-class upbringing in Medford, Massachusetts, Hoff went on to work for numerous Massachusetts corporations as an engineer, eventually working his way up to titles such as senior vice president and CEO. Later, he left the corporate ladder behind to try his hand at venture capitalism and entrepreneurship, investing in land, strip malls, and even an oil and gas company. Despite his success, Hoff has never forgotten his working-class roots and has repeatedly given back through various philanthropic efforts aimed at supporting causes and institutions dear to his heart, chief among them UMass Lowell and UMass Boston.

During the past 35 years, Charles John Hoff and his family have awarded over 3,000 scholarships to students from diverse backgrounds to all the UMass system schools, but he has a special closeness to UMass Boston. He has awarded more than 500 students a scholarship to attend UMass Boston. He is especially proud that UMass Boston students made him an honorary member of their International Honor Society. While interviewing many students during this period, Hoff would let them know how lucky they were to receive a unique and enriching education at UMass Boston with students from all walks of life.

Over the years, Hoff has received numerous honors, including the 1992 Distinguished Alumni Award from UMass Lowell, awarded to graduates who have made significant contributions to a field of knowledge or for exemplary public service, and in 2008, the President's Medal, UMass Lowell's highest honor. He has served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Massachusetts, on the University of Massachusetts Foundation Board of Directors, and on the Board of Trustees of UMass Memorial Health Care and Northeastern University.

Hoff is a graduate of UMass Lowell and holds a master's degree from Northeastern University. In recognition of his longstanding commitment to the University of Massachusetts and his ongoing efforts to improve the affordability of higher education in Massachusetts, we are proud to honor Charles John Hoff.

Regina (Gina) McCarthy '76
Doctor of Humane Letters

The first White House national climate advisor and former U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) administrator, Regina (Gina) McCarthy is one of the nation's most respected voices on climate change, the environment, and public health. As head of the Climate Policy Office under President Biden, McCarthy's leadership led to the most aggressive action on climate in U.S. history, creating clean energy innovation and investments across the country. Her commitment to bold action restored U.S. climate leadership on the global stage.

Throughout her years of service in both Republican and Democratic administrations, McCarthy has been credited for her common-sense strategies and ability to work across the aisle to tackle our toughest environmental challenges in ways that spur economic growth and improve public health.

Before joining the Biden administration, McCarthy was president and CEO of the Natural Resources Defense Council, one of the nation's largest and most influential environmental advocacy organizations. Prior to that role, she was a professor of the practice of public health in the Department of Environmental Health at Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health.

From 2013 to 2017, McCarthy served as the EPA administrator under President Obama. McCarthy focused on broad external engagement to strengthen clean air standards, a new EPA Clean Water Rule, the first national standards requiring reductions in greenhouse gas emissions for energy plants powered by fossil fuels, and many other efforts. She spearheaded international engagements that resulted in the passage of the Kigali Amendment to the Montreal Protocol to phase out some chemicals contributing to global warming and facilitated the adoption of the Paris Climate Agreement.

Prior to her presidential appointment, she served as commissioner of the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection. She also held senior positions in the administrations of five Massachusetts governors.

McCarthy is currently chair of the America Is All In coalition and a senior fellow at The Fletcher School's Climate Policy Lab at Tufts University. She is also an operating advisor at Pegasus Capital Advisors and a senior advisor at TPG Rise Climate Fund.

McCarthy earned a BA in social anthropology from the University of Massachusetts Boston and a joint MS in environmental health engineering, planning and policy from Tufts University. The University of Massachusetts Boston is pleased to recognize Regina (Gina) McCarthy in honor of her ongoing commitment to improving the environment and public health.

Martha Minow
Doctor of Laws

Martha Minow is a renowned expert in constitutional law and human rights. Throughout her prestigious career, her work has focused on issues confronting historically marginalized individuals and groups; legal responses to social, political, and religious conflict; and legal treatments of digital communications and technologies. She currently holds the 300th Anniversary University Professorship at Harvard University, and she has taught at Harvard Law School since 1981, serving as dean for eight years (2009–2017).

In addition, Minow has held numerous positions in the federal government and on international bodies. In 2010, President Obama named her to the Board of the Legal Services Corporation, which provides civil legal assistance to low-income people, and she partnered with the Department of Education and the Center for Applied Special Technology to increase curriculum access for students with disabilities. Internationally, she served on the Center for Strategic and International Studies' Commission on Countering Violent Extremism and the Independent International Commission on Kosovo. Under the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees, she helped launch the Imagine Co-existence program to promote peaceful development in post-conflict societies.

The author of many books, her titles include Saving the News: Why the Constitution Calls for Government Action to Preserve the Freedom of Speech (2021), When Should Law Forgive? (2019), and In Brown's Wake: Legacies of America's Constitutional Landmark (2010). Some of her recent articles include "Not Born a Democracy: Constitutional Preconditions," published in the William & Mary Law Review (2025), and "Justice in Divided Societies" in the American Journal of Law and Equality (2024).

Minow is currently the chair of the GBH Board of Trustees, and she was previously chair of the Board of Trustees of the MacArthur Foundation and co-chaired the Access to Justice Project of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Her contributions to society have been recognized through numerous honors, including the 2025 Friedrich Schiedel Prize for Social Sciences and Technology awarded by the Technical University of Munich, the 2025 Hon. Robert A. Katzmann Award for Academic Excellence, and the 2024 Ruth Bader Ginsburg Lifetime Achievement Award.

Minow is a graduate of the University of Michigan, the Harvard Graduate School of Education, and Yale Law School. For her ongoing work to create a more just and equitable society and world, the University of Massachusetts Boston is pleased to honor Martha Minow.

2026 Distinguished Faculty Awards

Professor
Steven Ackerman,
Honors College
Chancellor's Award for Distinguished Teaching

Professor Steven Ackerman's research and scholarly publications reflect pioneering work in the fields of molecular biology and biochemistry, with a focus on the mechanism of the initiation of RNA synthesis (transcription). His lab was the first to demonstrate that the mechanism of gene regulation between animals and plants has been conserved for over 1.6 billion years. Further, his lab was the first to identify and purify plant transcription proteins that have congeneric functions to human transcription proteins, demonstrating that evolution developed and conserved gene regulation mechanisms for eons. In addition to his pioneering research, Professor Ackerman developed or co-developed 14 new undergraduate and graduate courses for the Biology Department and has developed 16 new courses for the Honors College, with 6 more planned. Professor Ackerman has mentored over 60 undergraduate and graduate students in his lab, oversaw multiple Honors College student theses, and advised well over 2,500 students during his career. Professor Ackerman's many contributions to research, course development, and student mentoring have made him a deserving recipient for this year's Chancellor's Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Professor Neal Bruss,
English Department,
College of Liberal Arts
Chancellor's Award for Distinguished Service

Professor Neal Bruss has been a dedicated member of the UMass Boston community for over 50 years. His teaching, research, and service have been in furtherance of UMass Boston's mission to support "the intellectual growth and success of students from diverse socioeconomic, racial, ethnic, linguistic, and cultural backgrounds." For more than 12 years, he has served as chair of the Faculty Council General Education Committee and coordinator of First-Year Seminars. He served for several years as director of the English Department's master's program and as interim dean of the College of Liberal Arts. Professor Bruss has taught courses in the history of the English language, English linguistics, literature, and writing and editing. With doctoral training in English linguistics, he regards his teaching and service as supportive of, and supported by, his research. Professor Bruss has dedicated his life to this institution, and he is beyond deserving of this great honor.

Professor Werner H. Kunz,
Department of Marketing,
College of Management
Chancellor's Award for Distinguished Scholarship

Professor Werner H. Kunz is an internationally distinguished service marketing scholar whose work has shaped the field's understanding of human-machine collaboration, digital media and innovation, and the societal impact of digital transformation. Over two decades, he has authored more than 50 peer-reviewed journal articles and 30 book chapters across three intersecting areas: AI and service robots in human-machine collaboration, customer-centered measurement of firm innovativeness, and corporate digital responsibility. He coauthored the seminal paper "Brave New World: Service Robots in the Frontline," which defined the field's framework and definition. Earlier, he developed the Perceived Firm Innovativeness (PFI) Scale, which measures innovativeness from the customer's perspective. More recently, he has advanced corporate digital responsibility in the age of AI, reframing how firms manage data and algorithms as a strategic capability rather than a compliance burden. In 2025, he became the first scholar in UMass Boston history to be named a Highly Cited Researcher by the Web of Science, placing him in the top 1 percent of researchers globally. His field-defining contributions on service robots, AI, and innovation, paired with his global academic reputation, made Professor Kunz a compelling case for our university's highest scholarly honor in 2026.

Professor Sharon Lamb,
Department of
Counseling, School
Psychology, and Sport,
College of Education and
Human Development
Chancellor's Award for Distinguished Scholarship

Sharon Lamb is an internationally recognized scholar whose work has shaped debates on sexual development, gender, sexual ethics, and youth culture for three decades. Known as a critical voice in psychology and feminist scholarship, she has raised foundational questions about agency, vulnerability, consent, trauma, responsibility, forgiveness, and the ethic of care. Her work is distinguished by its interdisciplinarity, conceptual rigor, critical voice, creativity, and capacity to influence scholarship, psychological practice, and public understanding. In her 30 years as a professor, publishing 12 books (two winning national awards), 2 curricula, American Psychological Association task force reports, and over 30 chapters and articles, she has helped lead scholarly conversations as they emerged. Acclaim for her recent work describes Lamb as a "fierce truth-teller" guiding readers "through moral and emotional ambiguities." Some of her works have extended psychological scholarship into mainstream public debate, cited in major media outlets including The New York Times, TIME, and The Atlantic, while some have been used to inform legal cases. Taken together, this body of work leads us to recognize her with our university's highest scholarly honor for 2026.

The Alma Mater

To UMass Boston

We beheld, UMass Boston, a torch in your hand,
Saw a crown on your brow, heard your voice of command
That we follow the lead of your bold guiding light
Toward knowledge and wisdom and fervor for right...
Toward knowledge and wisdom and fervor for right.

How that glow has burned bright through the passage of years
As our dreams dispelled doubts and our hopes assuaged fears,
As our eyes watched that gleam with conviction and trust,
And we learned to place faith in the good and the just...
And we learned to place faith in the good and the just.

May that torch never dim as life beckons us forth—
May it shine like a jewel of fathomless worth.
Like tall ships setting sail may we steer evermore
To that beacon of beauty and truth on the shore...
To that beacon of beauty and truth on the shore.

The music for the alma mater was composed in 2016 by Professor of Music David Patterson of the Performing Arts Department. The musical setting has the flavor of a 19th century anthem as heard through modern ears. The lyrics were adapted from those of a State Teachers College at Boston class song by a committee of the university's Faculty Council. In both music and text, "To UMass Boston" evokes images of an ongoing, uplifting pursuit of knowledge and truth.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

With a growing reputation for innovative research addressing complex urban issues, the University of Massachusetts Boston, metropolitan Boston's only public university, offers its diverse student population both an intimate learning environment and the rich experience of a great American city. UMass Boston's 7 colleges and schools serve nearly 17,000 students while engaging local, national, and international constituents through academic programs, research centers, and public service activities.

Part of the five-campus University of Massachusetts system, UMass Boston is located on a peninsula in Boston Harbor, near the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum, the Massachusetts State Archives and Museum, and the Edward M. Kennedy Institute for the United States Senate. To learn more about UMass Boston, visit umb.edu.
